Surviving the System.

If you have ever had to deal with the European Authorities or indeed with any institution in the EU, then you will know how frustrating and confusing such interactions can become.

One thing the local Authorities seem to be good at is separating you from your money. There are taxes, social charges, contributions, and other subscriptions that may well be levied against you.

The legal system is very different from its US, Australian or British counterpart. Expats often make the basic mistake of thinking that things work similarly in all countries.

We treat each client as an individual; we work on the premise that each client will have their own specific issues and needs, and so we listen carefully to what the client has to tell us before we begin to work on their behalf.

We apply our unique systems approach to problem-solving and solutions generation to our client's issues and challenges. We create the most suitable responses to each issue, discussing them with the client, and then implementing them fully, making sure that we manage the resolution of such issues from end to end.

We provide a 'wrap around' service to each client based on their membership level, and look to support the client as fully as possible throughout their membership. We consider ourselves as partners with you during the entire term of your membership with us. And, as partners do, we look to help you to achieve your dreams whenever and wherever it is possible for us to do so.

How we can help?

Relocation Pack (Students):

Moving house can be really frustrating, for expats and native French alike.

Whatever your need;

- opening a bank account
- finding a place to rent.
- getting basic utilities connected
- sourcing an internet connection.

We can help.

Living Pack :

Finding a place to live in Europe is one thing, but staying in Europe for any extended period means you have to access a whole range of services and products – all of which seem to work in an entirely different way from your own country!

We assist and guide you not only to move but to also settle in the most efficient way possible.

Working Pack :

If you are moving to Europe with an intention to start your own business or become an employee in an existing business in France, then you should be aware of challenges and complexities you are going to face.

We assist you to overcome all challenges and complexities.
